are proud to support the

Vanessa

Fund Raiser Show

In February 2009, aged 8, Vanessa was diagnosed with stage 4 high risk neuroblastoma, an aggressive and difficult to treat form of childhood cancer. Having undergone all this difficult and often very painful treatment the fact remained that due to a high relapse rate the long term prognosis for Vanessa's survival remained very poor - with less than a 40% survival rate. All the same, Vanessa finished her treatment at Yorkhill Hospital in August 2010 and was given the all clear.

In December 2011 after routine scans, Vanessa's parents Connie and Chris were given the devastating news that Vanessa had relapsed. Taking Vanessa to America for help will dramatically increase her chances of long term survival
